Digital Delights
By Alex Ames
June 2011

This is the next installment of “Digital Delights from Minnesota Reflections,” a monthly feature of the Minnesota Digital Library listserv.

Minnesota comes into its own in summer time. If you are stuck in the office, dream your lunch break away with Minnesota Reflections!

Many Minnesotans love to get away for the weekend during summer, and some strive to own a vacation home of their own. Ellie Rosberg did not have to “rough it” in her lakefront property: http://reflections.mndigital.org/u/?/whs,3.

The shores of Lake Minnetonka sparkle with luxurious getaways: http://reflections.mndigital.org/u/?/whs,68.

But most of us strive for simpler accommodation: http://reflections.mndigital.org/u/?/p15160coll5,182.

For those who cannot leave town for the weekend, try a stroll around a local park: http://reflections.mndigital.org/u/?/ren,152.

The Lyndale Park Rose Garden exudes a formality appropriate to the flowers that grow there: http://reflections.mndigital.org/u/?/mpls,165.

These little gardeners seem to enjoy getting their hands dirty: http://reflections.mndigital.org/u/?/stc,594.

Not all gardens are places of repose. Though vegetables lack the elegance of roses, they do a better job filling the stomach: http://reflections.mndigital.org/u/?/irrc,2176.

Summer fun can range from the refined (http://reflections.mndigital.org/u/?/p15160coll12,71) to the adventurous (http://reflections.mndigital.org/u/?/nsm,47). But remember that Minnesota summers are most memorable when spent with friends and family:

Enjoy the first days of summer!

Alex L. Ames
Graduate Assistant, Minnesota Digital Library